Continuing Education Program Enhanced Through Curriculum, Staff Reorganization

For over half a century, Rollins College has sought to provide young people and adults with special opportunities to grow in both educational and cultural dimensions.

Rollins began its adult education program in 1950 with the offering of late afternoon and evening courses on nearby military installations. In 1956, the program was changed to an on-campus operation, except for the Patrick Air Force Base Program which, revised and expanded, became the Patrick Branch of Rollins College. The campus-based program was formalized into separate school status in 1961 and was later named the Rollins College School of Continuing Education.

The Continuing Education program has served the Central Florida community by offering courses for undergraduate degree credit as well as a variety of non-credit courses. Its faculty consists of both regular Rollins full-time faculty and adjunct faculty drawn from the community for their expertise. Current enrollment in the program is approximately 1,200 students.

Following extensive consultation with a team of experts from the College Board, the Continuing Education program has recently undergone major reorganization. Adhering to the spirit of the recommendations of the Report of the College Planning Committee (issued October, 1980), the redesigned administrative structure includes both a Division of Continuing Education (evening and part-time degree programs) and a Division of Non-Credit Programs (including programs for adults, young adults and children). According to Dean of the Faculty Dr. Daniel R. DeNicola, who announced the reorganization, the new structure promises to better serve the Central Florida community through new and exciting programming while building upon the solid foundation of community service which the popular Continuing Education program has established over the past twenty years.

Dr. Bettina K. Beer has been appointed Assistant Dean of the Faculty for Continuing Education with responsibility for the administration of all evening and part-time undergraduate degree programs. Dr. Beer will play a major role in the development of new degree programs and in the recruitment of qualified students. She has served as College Registrar since 1978 and holds appointment as Assistant Professor of History. She earned her B.A. from St. Lawrence University and her M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from Vanderbilt University, specializing in modern European history.

The Division of Continuing Education will introduce a new degree program in Fall 1982. According to Dr. Beer, "The philosophy underlying the new curriculum is to provide community residents with the opportunity to receive a liberal arts education combined with specialized preprofessional sequences of courses in fields such as business administration which are directly applicable to their particular careers."

To be eligible for a Bachelor of Arts degree through the Continuing Education program, students will be required to complete 35 courses (and 35 course units), a minimum of 12 of which must be in the major field, as well as grade, residency and general education requirements. Optional minors in many areas will also be offered. "The general education requirements are designed to provide those concepts and skills that adults need to clarify their past experience and which have consequences for the future management of their personal and professional lives, whatever their occupations may be," said Beer.

Dr. Beer

Majors to be offered under the new program include English, Psychology, International Affairs, Public Affairs, Economics, Communication Arts, Humanities and Environmental Studies. Students will be permitted to minor in any of these areas as well as in Women's Studies, French, Spanish, Theatre, Business Administration or Accounting.

The new curriculum for the Continuing Education program has been carefully reviewed and approved by the undergraduate faculty. Currently enrolled students will be given the option of switching to the new program or finishing their degrees under the regulations in force when they entered Rollins.

Richard "Rick" Bommelje, formerly Director of Continuing Education and Director of the Master of Science in Criminal Justice Degree Program, has been appointed to the new post of Director of Non-Credit Programs. He is responsible for the development of non-credit programs which reflect the educational mission of Rollins College and which serve adults, young adults and children. The former School of Creative Arts will be expanded under this new division. Mr. Bommelje earned the B.S., M.S.M. and Ed.S. degrees from Rollins College. He holds faculty rank as Assistant Professor of Business and has taught courses in management and business research.

Designed as a response to the dramatic growth of interest in lifelong learning, the Division of Non-Credit Programs provides access to Rollins resources and facilities for those individuals who are not enrolled in traditional undergraduate or graduate programs. "We are in the process of consolidating the various existing non-credit programs at Rollins and are concurrently developing new programs for the future," said Bommelje. "It is our intent to provide a broad range of experiences for all age groups." The Division will offer a diversified curriculum to those who seek opportunities for cultural enrichment, self-fulfillment, intellectual growth and professional development. A year-round schedule of programs in a variety of formats will be offered.

The first non-credit course to be offered by the Division was the highly successful Creative Writing course taught during the Spring term by Sloan Wilson, Rollins' Distinguished Writer-in-Residence.

The Division of Non-Credit Programs will work with the College, the Crummer Graduate School of Business and the School of Education and Human Development to develop special seminars and non-credit workshops. The Division will also work jointly with the Alumni Association to provide meaningful educational experiences. A special policy has been implemented allowing a 10% discount on tuition to all Rollins alumni enrolling in any non-credit course. The basic objective of the discount program is to extend to alumni the opportunity of participating in an experience that is presented at the college level in a noncompetitive, informal atmosphere. The only prerequisite is the student's interest in a subject matter. Suggestions from alumni for future course offerings are welcome and should be directed to the Division of Non-Credit Programs.

The next few months will be exciting times as new programming gets underway in the two new divisions of Rollins College. According to Dean DeNicola, the new administrative structure "promises new educational options and higher standards for our Continuing Education students. It promises a set of significant new initiatives in non-credit programs. It provides for a closer integration of all undergraduate programs, and it extends responsibility of full-time faculty to include these programs." Rollins has reaffirmed its institutional commitment to educational outreach.

BOUELS OF BOX LIK MAGIKE SPEWEN FORTH THIS LERNING

By Peter Larson

It took Chaucer 15 years to write "The Canterbury Tales."

It takes Steve Phelan 20 minutes, using a high-speed computer, to convert the 14th century poem into a perforated printout.

The computer clicks softly, spewing forth from the bowels of a box, like magic, an alphabetized list of words in the medieval vocabulary: thwitel, thyng, thraldom, thrustelock, thritty. One of the words is "newefangleness" — a term Chaucer undoubtedly would have used to describe the infernal machine.

"I'm sure he would be appalled," says Phelan, a professor of English at Rollins College who has spent six years compiling the computerized glossary. "Had Chaucer lived to see this IBM day, he might have exclaimed, 'Allas, allas, that evere word was printe!'"

When the dictionary is completed two years from now, it will catalog 109,000 different words that appear in Chaucer's 21 tales and also record how often each word is used, various spellings and where each usage occurs in the 14,000-line manuscript.

Phelan is not alone. At universities all over the world, scholars are using computers to analyze Beowulf, Melville, Shakespeare and Dante.

Like Phelan, they are convinced that language follows certain mathematical rules and can be studied statistically — like physics or astronomy. With the aid of computers, they hope to discover underlying meanings no human reader can detect.

Phelan compares it to studying the weave of a carpet under a microscope, one thread at a time.

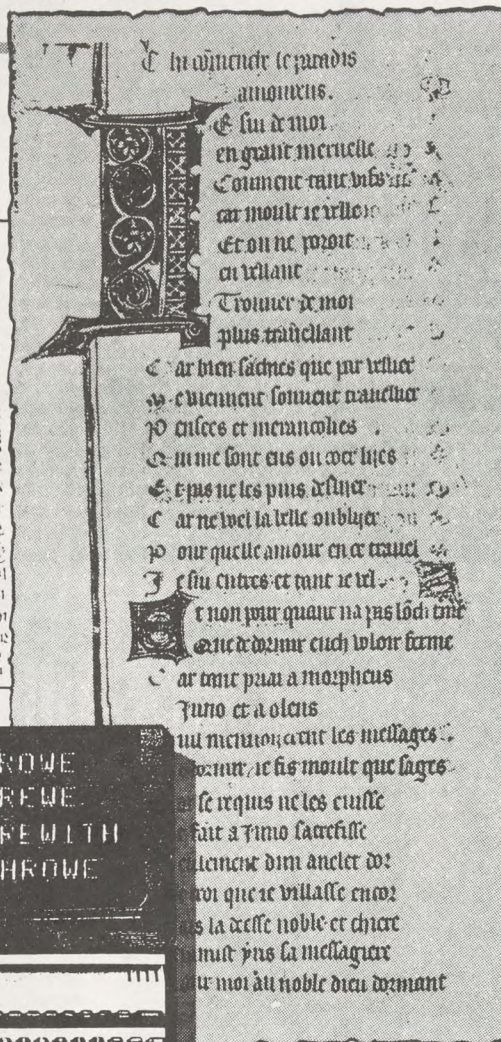

With the push of a button, for instance, literary critics using Phelan's dictionary will know that Chaucer used the word "and" 5,038 times. By calling up the word "above," they will discover that it occurs 39 times, usually at the end of a line, to signify heaven or God.

But the main advantage of the machine is that it reads the entire poem simultaneously, rather than word by word. And unlike human readers, the computer has a memory that is totally objective.

Like a satellite photographing the Earth, the machine views the poem in a complete but infinitely detailed panorama. It pro-

al this newe science that men lere.'*

Geoffrey Chaucer

John Beardsley/Sentinel Star

vides an overview of Chaucer's "logosphere" — the term Phelan uses to describe the private world of word meanings and associations inhabited by each speaker of a language.

These associations of syntax, sounds and formations might offer insights into an author's stream of consciousness that definitions alone cannot provide.

Or it may be pure nonsense. The science of modern linguistics, developed over the past 120 years by thinkers like George Boole, Bertrand Russell, Alfred North Whitehead and Noam Chomsky, is disparaged by many critics who believe, literature is far too subtle to be analyzed mathematically.

"A project like this has lots of detractors, and I'm one of them," admits Phelan. "Part of my goal is to see if computers are a useful tool for literary criticism. I'm not interested in generating a lot of ridiculously useless output."

At times, the sheer drudgery of the task is overwhelming. Phelan has logged thousands of hours on computers since he began the dictionary in 1976 at Ohio State University, which has one of the world's largest centers for computer-aided humanities projects.

Dr. Phelan

So far he has had only one minor disaster.

"I walked in once after a big storm and the computer had crashed," Phelan recalls. "Then I called up my account and there was nothing there. I went into a seizure, a real catatonic fit before learning that information was saved on a backup tape."

Last month Phelan was awarded an $11,000 grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities to help finish the dictionary. The final version will be stored on computer tape for other Chaucer scholars to study and expand by feeding in results of their own research.

"I see myself as a toolmaker," Phelan says. "I'm expecting this thing to grow like a tree."

The dictionary might also clear up the authorship of the Wife of Bath's Tale — a controversy that has been raging for hundreds of years. Some scholars believe Chaucer's tale may have been plagiarized from a similar story by one of his contemporaries, John Gower.

By comparing the vocabularies of Chaucer and Gower, the computer could pick out telltale quirks of dialect, word choice and structure too painstaking for a human reader to spot.

An example is the word "schape," the medieval equivalent of "shape." Gower uses it seven times in his version of the story, says Phelan, but Chaucer doesn't use it at all. "From the way he uses it, it's obvious that Gower is interested in magic and transformation."

All books will one day be stored on computers, Phelan predicts, making the work of scholars and researchers much easier.

"There is no question that in 50 years, printed books will become museum objects. The starting point will be when the Library of Congress requires all authors to submit machine-readable copies of their new books."

Bush Chair of Science Brings Honor, Prestige to Rollins Faculty

The Science Program at Rollins is flourishing, boasting superior facilities, a competent and dedicated faculty and highly motivated students. Much of the Program's growth and success can be attributed to research and development made possible through the Archibald Granville Bush Chair of Science, which helps Rollins attract and retain outstanding faculty.

Established in 1969 by a grant of $400,000 from the Bush Foundation of Minneapolis, the fully endowed Bush Chair provides salary plus a stipend for research, travel and special projects. Its stipulations call for the holder to advise advanced Science students, develop new courses and programs in Science, recruit talented Science students and represent the College in national and local seminars.

According to Rollins College Dean of the Faculty Dr. Daniel R. DeNicola, each holder of the Chair is chosen on the basis of his or her contribution to higher education and to the students at Rollins. "The holder must exemplify those qualities which reflect dedication and commitment to teaching and research," said DeNicola.

Recently named to the Bush Chair for a three-year term was Dr. Erich Blossey, Professor of Chemistry. As Archibald Granville Bush Professor of Science, Dr. Blossey will receive, in addition to the signal honor represented by the Chair, a special budget over and above his salary and departmental budget to be used, as he deems appropriate, "for the development of courses, independent study, conducting seminars and lectures for the College and general public and in other ways which serve the sciences at Rollins College."

The appointment was made by Vice President and Provost Dr. Robert Marcus on the recommendation of Dean DeNicola, who solicited nominations from the Science faculty.

Currently Head of the Chemistry Department, Dr. Blossey joined the Rollins faculty in 1965 following studies at Ohio State University, Iowa State University and Carnegie-Mellon University. He has held prestigious National Institute of Health postdoctoral fellowships at Stanford University and the University of New Mexico and in 1971 and 1972 served as President of the Rollins College chapter of the American Association of University Professors.

Through his research efforts in chemistry, Dr. Blossey has published eighteen articles in science journals with colleagues and students, received a patent and has written a book on chemistry and science. His research investigations have focused on natural products and bio-organic chemistry and have included several studies on steroids.

Dr. Blossey's most recent work has centered on polymers and has involved the full participation of Rollins undergraduate students. Last spring, three Rollins students involved with polymer research presented papers on their work at the State Convention of the American Chemical Society.

The original holder of the Bush Chair of Science was Dr. Paul A. Vestal, retired Professor of Biology. Appointed to the Chair in 1969, Dr. Vestal brought great distinction to Rollins College through his research in the areas of botany and nature conservation.

Dr. Herbert E. Hellwege, Professor of Chemistry, held the Chair from 1974-77. His numerous research activities have included direction of a project on the "Influence of Cosmetics in Skin Respiration," sponsored by a national cosmetic firm.

Named in 1977 as the third holder of the Bush Chair was Dr. John S. Ross, Professor of Physics. Among his research investigations are studies on hyper-fine structure, atomic isotope shifts and high resolution atomic spectroscopy. In addition, he conducted a study on water flow in the Winter Park Chain of Lakes.

The Bush Chair of Science is one of seven endowed professorships at Rollins provided by benefactors to assure continuing quality of the teaching-learning experience offered at the College.

Dr. Blossey

TAKING THE MYSTERY OUT OF MONEY

By M. Elizabeth Brothers

This spring, 125 women ranging in age from 21 to 88 gathered at Rollins for the second Mastering Your Money conference. They came from as far away as Fort Myers and as near as Winter Park. Some had attended the 1981 program; others were participating for the first time. All were resolved to take control of their financial affairs. Conference speakers were M. Elizabeth Brothers, Associate Vice President, Rollins College; Shirley R. Cossaboom, Ph.D., Assistant Professor of Accountancy, University of Central Florida; Cynthia G. Grubbs '72, Account Executive, Dean Witter Reynolds, Inc.; Frances Hall Miller, J.D., Professor of Law, Boston University Law School; and Ruby Toy, Account Executive, Merrill Lynch Pierce Fenner and Smith, Inc. Here are a few memorable quotations from their presentations.

"A Q-Tip isn't always a little cotton swab."

A Qualified Terminal Interest Property (Q-TIP) Trust is a new estate planning tool created by the 1981 tax law. It enables the first spouse to die to not only leave interest and principal of a marital trust to the surviving spouse but also to determine who will receive the remaining assets in the trust when the survivor dies. Under prior law in order to qualify for the marital deduction, the survivor had to be granted the power to designate the ultimate beneficiaries of the trust.

"To save taxes, for God's sake be married when you die."

Use of the unlimited marital deduction will avoid all taxes at the death of the first spouse, but it may be a tender trap and result in higher taxes when the survivor dies. Depending upon the size of the estate, age of the spouses, and likelihood of assets' appreciating, it may be better planning for the first spouse to leave some property to other individuals and charity rather than automatically giving everything to the other spouse.

Conference registrants ranged in age from 21 to 88. Two thirds of those responding to the pre-conference questionnaire had a will, but over half of them had not reviewed it since passage of ERTA. The group was about equally divided between beginning and intermediate level investors. Among the reasons given for attending the conference were a realization of the need for planning in order to gain security in very uncertain times and a desire to know about the options available.

"ERTA '81 is a Trojan horse for the rich."

The new tax law provides several great tax shelters for people who have some money put by or the ability and discipline to save as they go along: the IRA, now available to everyone under 70½ with earned income; the All-Savers Certificate, most beneficial to those in the 30% tax bracket or above; and the reinvestment of dividends from certain utility stocks. All offer golden opportunities for the affluent or those who would like to be.

"Act! Don't just react!"

Analyze your income and outgo, establish your objectives, draw up a flexible financial plan, consistent with your temperament and personal circumstances. Learn about the many ways to accumulate assets and preserve those precious resources once you have acquired them. Then you will be able to steer a steady course without being derailed by unforeseen circumstances.

Special Offer: If you would like to have a copy of the estate planning check list used at the conference, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Elizabeth Brothers, Associate Vice President, Rollins College, Winter Park, Florida 32789. She will welcome your suggestions about financial topics to be covered in future Dollars & Sense articles.

Offbeat studies fill Rollins winter term

By Robert Linn

William Matheny spent January poring over almost 30 texts dealing with vampires, "trying to get the facts behind the myth." Someday, he'd like to write a book on the subject.

Nancy Donlan put her artistic talents and biology training to good use by interning as a medical illustrator and photographer at Orlando Regional Medical Center.

Catherine Rodgers "always wanted to know what the Northeast was really like." This year, she got her first real taste of northern winters at Colgate University in upstate New York, where she studied Third World population growth for four weeks.

The projects undertaken by these three Rollins College students are typical of the kind of unusual academic experiences undergraduates pursue during the winter term at the Winter Park liberal arts college.

Sandwiched between the 4-month-long fall and spring semesters, the 4½-week winter term gives Rollins students a chance to devote all of their time to exploring one topic of interest. They earn the equivalent of one course credit for their experiences.

Undergraduates have the option of taking just one class or pursuing an independent study with one of their professors. Some choose to intern with a local business; others opt to participate in off-campus study programs held in Central America, Europe and the Soviet Union.

More than 250 colleges across the country operate on a similar schedule, devoting the month of January to non-traditional academic courses and experiences that students do not have the chance to pursue during the fall and spring terms.

At Rollins, school officials say the winter term is a time for students to explore their interests in a more relaxed atmosphere that allows them to pursue their research in greater depth.

"Undergraduates take only one course, and faculty members teach only one course, so instructors have total claim on a student's academic time," said Dan DeNicola, dean of the faculty at Rollins.

Students say they are able to get to know their professors better during the winter term and have a greater opportunity for classroom discussion and outside research.

Many of the winter term courses are "too narrow to be in the general curriculum but are of sufficient interest to be offered" during the month of January, DeNicola said. Course offerings include "Scientific Glass Blowing," "The Grotesque in Literature" and "The Vietnam War."

Matheny, who is studying the vampire myth, called the winter term "a unique experience" that allowed him to study intensively a subject he has "been interested in for a long time."

"The only unfortunate thing about it," he said, is that it did not give him as much time as he needed to read the 27 books on the subject that he wanted to study.

Taking only one course "helps you keep your head on the subject. You don't have to mix history with chemistry, for instance," said John Weckerling, who enrolled in a history seminar entitled "Hitler: A Study in Tyranny."

Mock interviewing program brings honors to Placement Office

The Career Planning & Placement Office at Rollins has been honored with the 1981 Innovation Award by the Southern College Placement Association, an association representing placement offices at colleges in 10 southeastern states.

The award was presented to Rollins for its successful program of mock interviewing developed for graduating students anticipating employment in the business community. Through the program, alumni, parents and friends of the College who are in the business community donate their time to conducting interviews with students and then critiquing the students on their performances in the interview situation.

Ms. Wanda Russell, Director of Career Planning & Placement, reports that both students and business persons from the community are pleased with the program. "We receive many comments indicating that the experience is a valuable, growing one for the interviewers, as well as being enjoyable. In some instances, the alum interviewer has taken an intense interest in student participants and has written letters of referral and become a genuine asset in the students' job searches," says Russell.

The mock interviewing program has been adopted by other colleges in the southeast, with their efforts being modeled on the Rollins experience.

$23,800 awarded to Rollins faculty members for research

In separate awards, two Rollins faculty members have received more than $23,000 for research from national organizations.

The National Endowment for the Humanities in Washington announced that Dr. Steve Phelan, Professor of English, will receive $11,000 to be devoted to his continuing research into a computer analysis of the language of Chaucer's Canterbury Tales. Phelan has been involved in the computer research for several years and has written a dictionary of The Canterbury Tales dealing with the sounds, word formations, syntax and other phenomena relevant to the literary work.

His new research will assist with designing a systematic text of The Canterbury Tales on the computer, thereby providing a centralized collection of data on the words and usages that other scholars can draw from via computer readouts for their own research, feeding their results into the host information program. (see story p. 3)

In a second award, The Petroleum Research Fund of The American Chemical Society has awarded Rollins Chemistry Professor Dr. Brian Ramsey $12,800 for research into photochemistry. Dr. Ramsey and a group of Rollins science students are involved in the research. A portion of the award has been dedicated to salaries for those student researchers during summer months.

Commenting on the awards, Rollins Provost Dr. Robert Marcus said, "While it is not unusual for our faculty to draw national attention and support for their research and teaching efforts, these two awards are particularly satisfying in that they represent two such different fields. The fact that research into an English literature masterpiece and into chemical matter relating to petroleum is occurring simultaneously at Rollins represents our broad commitment to the liberal arts. We are very proud of both Dr. Phelan and Dr. Ramsey and the students who are working with them in their investigations."

Artist-in-Residence fund established for Music Department

President Thaddeus Seymour and Music Department Chairman Dr. William Gallo recently announced the establishment of a new Artist-in-Residence Program, which will make possible the additional teaching appointment of a distinguished musician.

The Artist-in-Residence will give special master classes and concert performances for Rollins students and faculty as well as for the larger Central Florida community.

The program is being funded by special gifts from friends and patrons of the College's music programs. According to Seymour, "We are delighted that these generous friends have made it possible to build on the already strong tradition of music at Rollins."

Announcement of the Program was made on Sunday, March 21, during intermission of a "Friends of Music" Recital featuring Rollins Professor of Piano Thomas Brockman. Seymour also announced that Brockman, who retires from full-time teaching on June 1, has accepted appointment as the first Artist-in-Residence for the 1982-83 academic year.

Brockman, a native of Greenville, SC, joined the Rollins College faculty in 1962. Prior to that time, he had studied at the Curtis Institute of Music, Furman University, and at the Juilliard School where he studied with Olga Samaroff. In Europe, Brockman studied with Edwin Fischer, Robert Casadesu and Nadia Boulanger. He has performed throughout the world, including special appearances with symphony orchestras in Atlanta, Baltimore, Detroit, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Washington. He has also served as Artist-in-Residence at the world-famous Brevard Music Center in North Carolina.

Fiser breaks Rollins' all-time scoring record

Rollins' 6'8" forward Joel Fiser '82 has broken the school's four-year collegiate basketball scoring record of 1722 points held by All-American Dick Bezemer, a 1958 graduate.

Coming into the Tars' third home game of the new year on Monday, January 11, against St. Mary's College, Fiser was only two points shy of tying and three points away from breaking the 24-year record. He tied the record on a short turn-around jumper after only 1:21 seconds had elapsed in the game.

With 15:40 remaining in the first half, Fiser took a pass from Steve Waibel and hit a jumper to score his record-breaking point.

The game was halted for a presentation ceremony during which Fiser was awarded the game ball and received an ovation from the crowd of 1200. At half-time, Fiser was presented a portrait of himself by Dr. Thaddeus Seymour which was drawn by nationally honored sports illustrator Bernard Fuchs, father of Derek Fuchs, class of '80.

Fiser, who has been a starter since his freshman year, opened the 1981-82 season having scored a total of 1506 points. As a freshman, he scored 451 points and then 519 points as a sophomore. Last year, he averaged 21.4 points per game and a season total of 536 points.

Fiser, who is currently listed in Street and Smith's Basketball Guide as a small-college All-American, is an art major from Tampa, Florida.

All South, other honors awarded Rollins athletes

Rollins College scholar/athletes have brought outstanding honors to the campus this year.

In soccer, an unprecedented three Tars were named to the NCAA Division II All-South Team for 1981. Selected by the Intercollegiate Soccer Association of America were co-captains Jimmy Kerner, a junior from St. Louis, MO, and Gary Koettters, also a junior, from Quincy, IL. Third member is Lester Joseph, a sophomore from Trinidad, West Indies, who led the Tars this year in scoring with seven goals and five assists. Early in the season Joseph was selected as the South's Player of the Week for November 1 by the ISAA. Named to the Sunshine State Conference Soccer Tournament Team were senior Bruce Geise of St. Louis, MO, sophomore Even Bernsten of Oslo, Norway, and Jim Kerner who was also honored as MVP on defense. Bernsten was sidelined for the year with an injury sustained in the tournament.

In volleyball, freshman Debby Knorowski was named to the 1981 Florida AIAW Division II All-State Team. A 5'9" spiker from St. Petersburg, FL, Debby was also named to the NCAA All-Conference Tournament Team.

Kristine Whalen, a freshman from Hartford, CT, finished fourth in a field of 35 runners in the NCAA Division II Cross Country Southeast Regionals and qualified for the Nationals. Kristine is the second Lady Tar in the two-year history of cross country at Rollins to qualify. She finished 62nd at the Division II National Cross-Country Championships in Cape Girardeau, MO, posting a time of 20:48 on the 3.1 mile course.

In men's golf, Mark Diamond was named one of six members of the 1981 Florida Intercollegiate All-State team. The team is composed of the six low scorers at the prestigious 35th annual Florida Intercollegiate Championships in November. The team includes players from University of South Florida, University of Miami, Florida Southern, and the University of Florida. Mark is a junior from Rosalyn Estates, NY.

Three members of the waterski team won national titles as the Tars competed in the National Intercollegiate Waterski Tournament in California in November. In the men's events, Mike Morgan, a freshman from Lake Wales, FL, won the national slalom event with a total of 62½ buoys. Lady Tar Caroline Hogan, a junior from Muskegon, MI, scored 2,130 points in the trick competition to win her national title. Teammate Lisa Simoneau jumped 106 feet to win the women's jumping event. Simoneau is a junior from Laconia, NH.

Mary McDaniel, a freshman on the women's basketball team, was voted to the FAIAW Division II All-State Team. The selection capped an outstanding season for the 6'0" center from Altamonte Springs, FL, who led the Tars with 16.5 points per game and 12.0 rebounds. McDaniel scored a season total of 428 points and propelled the Lady Tars to a vastly improved overall record.

They keep coming back!

You had to be there to believe it. Rollins College Varsity Soccer Team 2, Varsity Soccer Alums 1!!!!

35 former Rollins soccer greats returned for the annual Soccer Reunion this fall, taking the NCAA Tournament Tars to the wall. No fooling, it was an excellently played, fun-filled game of high quality soccer. Following the game, alumni renewed old friendships and reminisced about soccer days of the past at a cocktail party sponsored by the Alumni Association.

The Alumni vs. Varsity game was an exciting first for Rollins College athletics, and plans for next November 6, 1982 and a repeat are already underway. Mark your calendars now!

You'll be pleased to know that this year's Varsity team won the Sunshine State Conference Tournament and, in a classic match-up of soccer powers, earned a seventh NCAA Tournament berth, losing 1-0 to Tampa University, the eventual NCAA Division II Champions. The Tars ended their season with an impressive 9-5-3 record.

Sports highlights

□ In March, the SOCCER team played host to the Tampa Bay Rowdies of the North American Soccer League, with the Tars falling 4-0 to the professional team. The pro-am match-up was sponsored by the Chi Psi Fraternity as a benefit game. All proceeds went toward the establishment of a fund which will enable Rollins varsity soccer players to train at a highly competitive level overseas in Europe and South America.

□ The WATERSKI team, ranked second in the nation, won the overall competition in the 12th Annual Spring Intercollegiate Tournament at Lake Virginia. This past fall, the Tars won three tournaments and were runners-up in two others. They finished second at the National Championships at Sacramento, CA in October.

□ In MEN'S TENNIS, the Tars swept the Sunshine State Conference Tennis Tournament for the second year in a row, winning all six singles divisions and all three doubles titles. The tournament was hosted by Rollins in April.

□ The WOMEN'S TENNIS team has been led this year by Vicki Nelson, a freshman from Wooster, OH who is ranked #11 in the U.S. in 18 and under with a WTA ranking of #70. As of this writing, Vicki is undefeated for the season with a 24-0 record. The team's current record is 17-3.

□ In March, the MEN'S GOLF team swept individual and team honors to win the overall Sunshine State Conference Championship at Bardmoor Country Club, Largo, FL. The win marks the first time in four years that the Tars have won the Conference title. Named to the Sunshine State All-Conference Team were junior Mark Diamond, sophomore Jim Guerra and senior Allan Andrews.

□ The WOMEN'S GOLF team placed second in Rollins' 6th Annual Peggy Kirk Bell Women's Golf Invitational at Big Cypress Golf Club, Winter Springs, FL. Senior Frances Baird, who fired a 75-75-74 224-total, was runner-up medalist. On hand for the tournament was Peggy Kirk Bell '43, who has a long and impressive list of titles and honors in both amateur and professional golf.

□ Rollins' 35th Annual BASEBALL Week, held in March at Harper Shepherd Field, ended with a tie for first place between Rollins and Eastern Kentucky. Named to the All-Tournament Team were seniors Mike Maley, Tony Schefstad, Mike Lyster and Steve Karwatt, and juniors Tad Slowick and Glenn Sherlock.

□ The VOLLEYBALL team finished its first season as a Division II team with a commendable 18-17 record.

□ In only their second season, the CROSS COUNTRY team won the Sunshine State Conference Championship in Miami and finished a strong third in the NCAA Regional meet in Pembroke, NC.

□ In WOMEN'S BASKETBALL, Rollins won the Boston Invitational hosted by Tufts University in February, defeating MIT 81-46 and Tufts 86-62. Freshman Mary McDaniel was voted the tournament's Most Valuable Player and was named to the All-Tournament Team. The Lady Tars finished the season with a record of 11-15 overall and 5-5 in the Sunshine State Conference.

□ Highlighting the season for the MEN'S BASKETBALL team was an 81-68 victory over National Defending Champion Florida Southern in front of a capacity crowd at the Enyart-Alumni Field House. The Tars finished the season with a record of 17-9 overall and 8-5 in the Sunshine State Conference.

Alumni return for parts in Theater Production

By Connie K. Riggs, Assistant to the President

It's impossible to let the curtain fall on the Jubilee Year of the Annie Russell Theatre without a reprise starring our illustrious alumni who returned for the production of George Bernard Shaw's "Major Barbara."

Nan Beecher-Moore, class of '50, who learned the part of Lady Britomart in a scant 12 days, is the cofounder of the American Place Theatre in New York City. She now works in London as a freelance designer. Nan is an authority on antique stockings, consulted by history and theater groups.

As promised, Reunion '82 was a real "blow-out"! The turnout was sensational, with over 400 alumni coming from as far away as California to join in the festivities. The College's Jubilee Celebration enhanced the spirit of the weekend, drawing many Chapel and Theatre alumni back for the occasion.

Throughout the weekend, alumni expressed warm and loving enthusiasm for their alma mater. Moments of the past were relived, special places were revisited and the love for Rollins that only an alum can have was rekindled.

We share with you some of the special moments of Reunion '82 through the following pictorial portrait.

Election best in Association's history

The Alumni Association's 1982 election of an Alumni Trustee and members to the Board of Directors has been hailed as the finest balloting by alumni in the Association's history. Analysis of the returns interestingly shows the Class of '81 as having cast the highest number of ballots, with the Class of '78 running a close second. Analysis by state shows the largest number of ballots coming from Florida alumni.

Charles Beeghly '67 has been elected to represent alumni on the College Board of Trustees as Alumni Trustee for a three-year term. He succeeds Peter Sholley '50, who will conclude his three years of outstanding service on May 31. The association and its 18,000 members thank Mr. Sholley for representing his fellow alumni in an exemplary manner.

Elected to a three-year term on the Board of Directors of the Alumni Association, beginning June 1, are Marilyn Fisher Boynton '63, Ann Todd Johns '57, Richard Trismen '57, Robert Winslow '71 and Scott Witherell '51. The Association expresses thanks to the following retiring Board members for their dedicated service to the Association on behalf of their fellow alumni: President Daniel D. Ramey '70, Guy D. Colado '71, Lee Gibson Collison '51, Nancy Neide Johnson '50 and Don W. Sisson '49.

Marchman receives Distinguished Alumnus Award

The Board of Directors of the Alumni Association is pleased to announce that Watt Pearsen Marchman '33 was chosen to receive the Distinguished Alumnus Award for 1982.

The award recognizes Mr. Marchman for his outstanding contributions to the field of Historical Research. He was the Executive Secretary and Director of Research for the Rutherford B. Hayes and Lucy Webb Hayes Foundation and the Hayes Historical Society from 1946-1980.

presented the award to Mr. Marchman during the annual Commencement ceremony on May 23, 1982.

Matthews honored with Alumni Achievement Award

It was noted in the citation declaring the Rev. Daniel P. Matthews '55 recipient of the Alumni Achievement Award in Religion that he was the last bugler to announce the change of classes at Rollins.

Upon his graduation from Rollins, Rev. Matthews enrolled in the Amos Tuck School of Business and from there went on to Vanderbilt to explore the concept of religion and determine his place in it. Following his ordination in 1959, he began his ministry as an Episcopal priest in Tennessee. He is currently Rector of St. Luke's Episcopal Church in Atlanta.

Dan's list of achievements is long and notable. He was presented with the Achievement award during the Alumni Association's Annual Luncheon and Meeting on March 27, 1982.

Alumni Service Award to Heinemann

For the past eight years, Robert Heinemann '66 has served as the Alumni Association's representative for the Washington, D.C. area. In addition to planning and organizing area alumni meetings, he has been actively involved in fund raising for the Rollins Fund.

For his continued service to the College and fellow alumni, Bob was honored with this year's Alumni Service Award during the Alumni Association's Annual Luncheon and Meeting on March 27, 1982.

Club Meetings

BILL MUNCEY MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP FUND ESTABLISHED

Atlas Van Lines, Inc. the national moving and storage company, has made a $17,500 contribution to Rollins College to establish the Bill Muncey Memorial Scholarship in Music.

Muncey attended Rollins as a music major from 1949 to 1952 prior to establishing himself as the leading driver of hydroplane racing boats in the United States. In addition to serving as Vice President of Corporate Affairs for the Atlas Van Lines corporation, he also raced a hydroplane boat under the sponsorship of Atlas. He amassed sixty-two victories in hydroplane racing during his career, making him the winningest driver ever in the sport's history.

Muncey was killed on October 18, 1981 while racing in a Gold Cup Circuit event in Acapulco, Mexico.

Announcement of the scholarship fund was made to Rollins President Thaddeus Seymour by Atlas Van Lines Vice Chairman Robert R. C. Miller who visited the College in April. "This scholarship fund, provided by our corporation and gifts from other companies, banks, employee organizations, racing associations and individuals, for deserving students of music will be a lasting and fitting tribute to your distinguished alumnus Bill Muncey," said Mr. Miller in presenting the scholarship money to Dr. Seymour.

President Seymour acknowledged the gift by promising to steward the scholarship in memory of Muncey and to assure that his memory and devotion to his alma mater would always be symbolized by the scholarship.

Thelma Van Buskirk Douglass writes: "My sister, Maud Van Buskirk Douglass '26, and I had a marvelous trip around the world last fall, visiting Japan, China, India, Pakistan, Nepal, Egypt and Paris. Am looking forward to our 50th Reunion next year. How fast the time has passed!"

36 Virginia Richardson Rodriguez writes: "I guess I'm just dullsville, but sure keep busy in big 56-year-old house (Winter Park) - falling apart like me! Do many church duties, visit the sick, etc. Have been organist and member at John Knox Presbyterian Church for 33 years. I'm sure I'm the oldest organist in Florida - ha! Am only charter member of Bach Choir still singing. Was privileged to sing with the Choir at a tribute banquet for John M. Tiedtke on February 19, 1982 - a gala occasion for all and a most fitting one." Marlen Eldredge Neumann is sorry she was unable to attend the Reunion this year - she was in the hospital recovering from artificial hip surgery. Leah Bartlett Lasbury, as President of the Englewood (FL) Good Neighbor Group, and husband Clyde recently took 20 people to Costa Rica to see the work of Alfalit, a Christian non-denominational literacy program.

37 Bryant H. Prentice, Chairman of Bryant & Stratton Business Schools, writes from Santa Barbara, CA: "We now have six commercial schools - four in N.Y. State, one in Cleveland and one in Santa Barbara - serving 5,000 plus students."

38 Robert H. Van Beynum claims he is semi-retired but holds two part-time jobs as Executive Director of the Sarasota/Manatee Manufacturers Association and the Sarasota County Plumbing, Heating and Cooling Contractors Association - "Prepare monthly newsletters; plan monthly dinner meetings; take minutes at monthly Board of Directors meetings; direct preparation and execution of annual membership directories and wage and salary surveys; am liaison with state and national associations and have various contacts with Committees of 100, local and county Chambers of Commerce, and other organizations. Keeps me somewhat active and involved in local, county and sometimes state affairs." Robert also does volunteer work in the alcoholic and mental health areas.

39 Richard "Dick" C. Camp writes from Greenwich, CT: "Am enjoying retirement, with time for year-round tennis, sailing on Long Island Sound, volunteer church activities, home maintenance, reading, some freelance technical writing. May take on a part-time administrative job in '82. We continue to enjoy home and homing with P.R. Kelly '42 and wife Sara and with cousin Boyd France '42 and wife Denise." Wilma Heath Lauterbach reports from Delavan, WI that she has been the only woman on the Milton College Board of Trustees for 19 years – "I'm not even an alum; however, I was asked. I've worked in Education since 1939."

41 Betty Hubbard Courtney and her husband are loving their life on Hilton Head Island and would enjoy hearing from any Rollins friends or classmates who might visit the island – (803) 691-3314. Mary "Keisy" Castor Rudolph, her daughter and son are all in college. Mary is studying Anthropology and hopes to someday get her Master's degree. Luverne Phillips Hinson writes from Augusta, GA: "Expect to visit our daughter and son-in-law (both Army Captains) in Heidelberg, Germany in June, and will be meeting Lillian Conn Ward '40 and her husband, Walter, in Switzerland. Have been with the Ft. Gordon (GA) Chapels for 16 years – directing a choir and also directing an entertainment group that sings, dances and presents skits. Love working with young people! We missed the Rollins Theatre group at Hilton Head in Jan., but our friends reported that they did a splendid job. Hope they'll return so we can see them next time!"

42 John L. Liberman will retire at the end of this school year after 31 years of teaching, 24 of which have been at Sharon High School, Sharon, MA. He writes: "June and I visited the campus for our 40th reunion. It was good to get back. Sorry only two classmates were there, but did see some others I knew. It was a rush since we drove from Massachusetts, leaving on Thursday and having to get back Monday night." This summer, John and June will retire to Newport, NH, where their log house and 40 acres of woods await them. "Come up and see us." Irene "Deede" Hoenig Windust reports from East Hampton, NY that she is enjoying acting again with the local regional theatre, where she appeared in Agatha Christie's "10 Little Indians" and is soon to appear in "Morning's at Seven". She sees Jess Gregg '41 often during the summers. Elisabeth Watson Dearing has for four years sponsored the Hal Dearing Memorial Race, which took place this year on January 30-31. "The first year we had 18 boats; this year, 52. A very rewarding experience for me. Because of this race, I was made an honorary member of the FORC (Florida Offshore Racing Circuit) – only two women have this honor." Elisabeth recently became a member of the Advisory Board of Anchor Savings & Loan, a new bank in Pinellas County, FL.

43 Phillippa Herman Jones writes from Riverside, CA: "Now that Bill is retired again (first as an officer in the U.S. Navy; now from teaching), we are looking forward to six months of living in England. We'll arrive in March and return next September, leaving all our boards (Mission Inn, World Affairs Council, etc). If you're in Trumpington, Cambridge, look us up." Alice Fague reports that she just had a most amazing trip to the Gambia, Africa. She went up the Gambian River into the bush to the village of Karantiba, where she visited the school and the Iman (holy man). The rest of the trip was more conventional – a tour of Morocco and a car trip through Spain. Richard B. Forbes is still living in Sanford, FL and working for the Agricultural Experiment Station. His wife, Naomi, is back working full-time as a dietitian at Seminole Memorial Hospital following a year-long battle with cancer. Richard's two sons both graduated from the University of Florida – David works in Gainesville and Richard E. (the younger) is an architect with HHCP in Winter Park.

44 Louise Ryan Hopkins writes from Shaker Heights, OH: "I've been busy traveling and being a grandmother. Janette (Hopkins) Taylor '72 has a four-year-old daughter and is living in Columbus, GA where she and her husband manage WVOC. Our youngest daughter (who is at S.M.U. in Broadcasting) and I went to Australia last summer to visit our A.F.S. daughter. Our other daughter is married and lives in Cleveland. I hope to get to Orlando soon and will visit the campus." Sudie Bond is the honored recipient of this year's Alumni Achievement in Theatre Award. Our congratulations go to her for her outstanding work in the Theatre. Sudie recently performed on Broadway as Juanita in "Come Back to the Five and Dime, Jimmy Dean, Jimmy Dean," directed by Robert Altman.

45 Our sympathies go to Carolyn Kent Grist on the passing of her husband, John M. Grist, on March 2, 1982. R. Nickson Carey reports that he sold his food brokerage business two years ago and joined a realtor in Delmar, NY. Last summer, he sold his house in Slingerlands, NY and moved into a small Cape Cod house in Elsmere, a section of Delmar. Daughter Julie '78 has moved from Boston to Miami where she hopes to find a teaching position.

46 Ruth Smith Yadley happily reports that her son, Greg, and his family (wife Bobby and 21-month-old daughter Lauren) recently moved to Tampa from Arlington, VA. Greg is an attorney with Shackleford, Farrior, Stallings & Evans. Bobby, also an attorney, is associated with the Holland & Knight firm. Ruth's daughter, Janet, has recently announced her engagement to Lawrence Dane Mendez. A

May 8th wedding is scheduled in Tampa. Sylva Twitchell Hutchins made a switch from sculpting stoneware clay to bronze. She had a one-person bronze sculpture show in Woodstock, NY in 1980 and in Kingston, NY in 1981.

48 Charles "Chuck" Whitney sends the following news: "Marilyn and I are living on our mobile home park in Gainesville, FL. We stay full because the housing market is so costly. After developing the park eight years ago it is a welcome situation to be solidly in the black side of the ledger. The Whitney kids – Maribeth 27, Matt 25 and Jim 22, are all graduates of the University of Florida. Maribeth and Jim work in Houston, TX; Matt is getting a Master's degree in Geography at the University of Florida. No grandchildren yet, which is OK since none of them is married. This year I saw Tom Brocklehurst '47 and Charlie Harra '49 in Sarasota when I was there for the day. Charlie and his wife have restored a beautiful circa 1926 five suite apartment building close to New College. They live on the top floor. The project took about four years and from the results I can recommend Charlie as a first class painter."

49 Joseph A. Friedman writes: "We moved in July from Miami Shores to Jacksonville to be 'closer' to family business interests and our lakefront cottage in Maine." Warren Kuehl received a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation and will be a scholar-in-residence at Belle Serbelloni, Lake Cerna, Italy for a month this spring. He and wife Olga Llano Kuehl will remain in Europe until July, where Olga is scheduled to present piano recitals in several major cities. Beverly Burkhart Ogilvie reports that her daughter, Lina Hyatt Ogilvie, married Robert Rhoades Long, Jr. on June 27, 1981 in a "perfect" wedding ceremony at the U. Va. Chapel. Beverly is continuing graduate studies toward a Ph.D. at the Institute of Clinical Psychology, U. Va. She is also working part-time and in November 1981 was promoted to Supervisor of Pupil Services in charge of psychologists, school social workers and guidance counselors for the County School System. "Am too old for all this stuff, but I love it. Fond regards to all at Rollins." Frederick Hartley has returned to Washington, D.C. following a 2½-year tour at the U.S. Embassy in Brussels. He now works at the Voice of America. We report sad news of the death of Luise Emery, wife of Carleton C. "Kelly" Emery and mother of Ingo Kozak '67 and John C. Emery '74. Benjamin Aycrigg, Special Assignment Anchorperson for WDBO-TV in Orlando, has donated his talent to the Rollins College Admissions Office. As a service to the College, Ben narrated an 18-minute audio-visual presentation which is currently being used by

Rollins Admissions counselors at receptions and high school visits throughout the country. Ben was also producer/host of a special holiday program broadcast throughout Central Florida featuring the annual Christmas Vespers service held in the Knowles Memorial Chapel at Rollins.

51 Gale Smith Mayfield writes from Lincoln, MA: Having gone down to Winter Park to visit my parents for a few days, I was delighted to have an opportunity to explore the campus, greatly changed, to see some excellent tennis and to attend a Sunday Chapel service. Great fun to be back for a short visit. It was 80 degrees there while 5 degrees below zero in Boston!"

52 Frank H. Barker reports that his son, Bruce, was married on August 1, 1981 and is currently in his third year at Farleigh Dickinson School of Dentistry with a 3.7 GPA.

53 Judy Munske writes from Falls Church, VA: "Had lunch last September with Jack Reardon '52 in Seattle, where he was starring in "Dee Fleedermouse" with the Seattle Opera Society. Understand he recently appeared in a new pre-Broadway musical, also in Seattle. Retirement is wonderful. Became a ham radio operator and am now working on scuba diving certification in a mixed class of handicaps and AB's (Able Bodied). That, along with working on our local crisis Hot Line and teaching English to foreigners, keeps life busy and terrific." Robert Newton Peck was recently honored with the Mark Twain Award at the annual Mark Twain Banquet sponsored by the Missouri

Association of School Librarians. "Receiving the Mark Twain Award is very meaningful to me primarily because it's not a political award. The kids themselves vote for their favorite book of the year." And the winner was ... Peck's Soup for President, the fifth book in his "Soup" series. The sixth book, Soup in the Saddle, is scheduled for publication next year.

55 According to an article which appeared in the January 1981 edition of The Atlanta Villager, The Rev. Daniel Paul Matthews is setting the city of Atlanta on fire with his "vibrant enthusiasm, hard work, dedication and timely sermons" as Rector of St. Luke's Episcopal Church. Dan is this year's recipient of the Alumni Achievement Award. He and his wife, Diane "Deener" Vigeant Matthews '52, encourage alumni looking for an ideal vacation spot to consider their lodge, the Swag, which is in the North Carolina mountains just steps from the Great Smokey Mountain National Park. Jim and Cindy Ross Vickers write from Miami: "We see and talk to Bebo Boothby. Also, Jim works with Buddy High '52. We had a good time at our reunion. Would love to hear from all." Jane Swicegood Brown reports from Rochester, NY that she is a full-time student at Monroe Community College, hoping to receive an Associate's degree in Business/Data Processing in June '82. She currently has a daughter at University of Vermont, another at Miami of Ohio and a son enrolled at University of Toronto. According to an article in the March 14, 1982 edition of The Little Sentinel, Winter Park has the greatest number of ranked tennis players in the senior (35 and up) circuit of any city of its size in the United States. Leading the list is Nancy C. Reed, who has achieved more No. 1 rankings for one year than any other tennis player in the history of the game. She is No. 1 in 45 and over singles in the U.S. and No. 2 in 40 doubles. In addition, she is ranked No. 1 in the 35, 40 and 45 singles divisions and No. 1 with her doubles partner, Mary Ann Plante, in the 35, 40 and 45 doubles. Reed and Rick Chance are No. 1 in open mixed doubles. Several years ago, Reed and Plante began Les Grandes Dames circuit, which is an offshoot of the NSWTA. The purpose of the group is to develop a purse for some of the older senior players, many of whom played in the U.S. Open and Wimbledon. This group includes such Rollins graduates as Reed, Betty Rosenquest Pratt '47, Shirley Fry Ervin '47 and Dodo Bundy Cheney '45, all of whom are still competing.

57 Jonathan Dunn-Rankin is disappointed that he was unable to attend Reunion and the 50th Anniversary Jubilee of the Annie Russell Theatre and the Knowles Memorial Chapel. After 20 years in television journalism, he is busy teaching at San Diego State University and, as a hobby, acting at the Old Globe Theatre.

58 Carole Bubb Steinman reports that daughter Beth graduates in May 1982 from the University of Florida. Daughter Cathy is a nursing student at E. Tennessee State University and son John, age 16, is in 10th grade. "Would love to hear from old friends passing through Jacksonville (FL)." Leon and Libby Daggett Robbins '59 send news that their daughter, Mary Katherine "Katie" Robbins, graduated from Rollins in 1981 and is now Director of the Children's Theatre at Hilton Head, SC. Bruce Anthony Beal reports that his company's business efforts continue to expand, especially in the area of real estate development and acquisition. Last year the company acquired several major office buildings as well as the former Research & Development Headquarters of Kennecott Copper Corporation. Bruce remains active in the community as Trustee of the Massachusetts Eye & Ear Infirmary, Overseer of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, member of the Town of Lincoln Conservation Committee and supporter of the Boston Public Library. Son Christopher, age 15, is away at boarding school; Alexandra, 13, and Bruce, Jr., 11, are at local day schools. "We spent a pleasant summer in Nantucket last year, and, during the latter part of December and early January, Enid and I and the children visited South America and the Galapagos Islands. We enjoyed our visit to Rollins last spring (1981) and look forward to returning and seeing old friends when we are in Palm Beach during the winter."

59 Dan Smith has been named Chairman of the Board of L. & S. Promotions. Thomas V. DiBacco, a business historian at American University, was quoted in an article entitled "The Economy in '82: Which Predictions Will Come True?" which appeared in the January 1982 edition of Changing Times magazine.

60 Sydney Burt Goodwin writes from Bethesda, MD: "Would love to hear from some Rollinsites. Am spending my time teaching tennis, training non-profit agencies in management and raising three great kiddos. Bob loves his work with the Congress and spends his free time swimming (35,000 yards per week!)." Sarah L. Barber was promoted to Associate Professor in the English Department at LaGuardia Community College, CUNY. She spent a month last summer in China - "Just a fine experience!"

61 As Placement Director at Kinyon-Campbell Business School, June Worthington Mendell occasionally teaches a course in career development and teaches a course to programming students (Kinyon-Campbell is the computer center for Southeastern MA). She is Executive Director of the Mattapoisett Housing Authority and was involved last summer in the ground breaking ceremony for construction of a 52-unit elderly project. June's daughter is a freshman at Bryant College, RI this year, and her oldest son is in the Navy Nuclear Program in Orlando. Christine Janz Taylor writes from Clearwater, FL: "I had a nice letter from Clinton Trowbridge, my English teacher at Rollins. He is working on a book (his first book, Crow Island Journal, is one of my all-time favorites) about Ian Hibell, who bicycled his way from Tierra del Fuego to Alaska. My daughter, Jenny, is a senior this year in 4th year Latin and Chemistry. Although she longs to go to Rollins, economic conditions preclude our sending her there." We sadly report the death of Justine Levin Lambert on May 14, 1981. She is survived by her husband, three children and two brothers. A Book-A-Year fund has been established in her memory.

62 Ruth Whittaker Phillips is sorry she was unable to attend Reunion this year, but hopes to return for a Reunion in the near future. She reports that she saw Janie Feise Young in March.

63 Michael "Sleepy" Pohlman reports the birth of a son, Jon Frederick, on October 23, 1981. Mike will coach Team Chicago in the International Tournament in Bussum, Holland in July 1982. While there, Team Chicago will give baseball clinics to the youth of the Bussum area, play exhibition games and take cultural tours of the Netherlands. Sandy Krumbiegel Cornell is now Corporate Secretary of Mall Publications and is on the Junior League Admissions Committee. "See Melinda 'Biggs' Bigelow Ward '65 regularly (she's with Berry Associates, a PR firm in Chatham). After 20 years, finally saw Katie Moore Welch, my Chi O roommate, when she came to the Big Apple! Also, just got a surprise phone call from Sheila Stacy Handrahan '66, another great Chi O friend! I love it!"

64 Charles B. Clark is General Manager for WESPAC Corp., So. El Monte, CA. Linda Peterson Warren recently completed a 3-month run of James Lapine's comedy "Table Settings" in Boston. It was very well received by the two major critics Eliot Norton and Kevin Kelly, who stated in the Boston Globe that Linda Was "perfect as the shiska wife." Bob Balink, a Florida businessman and veteran tennis official, has been appointed Commercial Director of World Championship Tennis. H. Arthur Cornell sends an update on his activities. For a large part of the '70's, he was Executive Vice President and Corporate Development Officer for Sime Darby, a billion-dollar conglomerate based in Kuala Lumpur, internationally and domestically and lived in London and the Far East. Currently, he is Vice President and Managing Partner of the executive search firm of Barton Sans International, NYC. Arthur recently married Marcia Branin from NYC. He has two daughters, Tracy (17) and Kimberly (16), and a step-daughter, Hallee (4). "I am in touch with a number of Rollins alumni on both a personal and professional level and welcome contact with individuals in the New York area."

65 Thomas M. Brightman has been named Senior Vice President of Central Savings Bank, Baltimore, MD. He also serves as a member of the Board of Directors of Financial Focus, Inc., a wholly owned financial planning subsidiary of Central Savings Bank, and as a member of the faculty of the School of Bank Marketing at the University of Colorado. Tom hopes to attend the 1983 Reunion in conjunction with a vacation trip to Florida. Wendy Rabinowitz Gralnek, husband Maurice and children Kevin (7) and Andrew (2) are living in Singapore "and loving it! Asia is where the action is. Come visit." Jo Crocker Kincaid Minoff is currently enrolled in a Doctoral program at Columbia Pacific University, Mill Valley, CA, and anticipates graduation in December following a year of sabbatical leave.

66 Stephen Combs, formerly business and labor writer for the Evansville Courier, is now Vice President of Quality Moving Services, Inc., a new agent of Southern Transfer and Storage Co., in Orlando. Steve, his wife Sally Shinkle Combs '67 and two sons recently moved to Winter Park. R. Gordon Relyea presented a paper/workshop at the Annual National Conference on Adult

Ross '67

Education in Anaheim, CA last fall. His program, entitled "Only You Can Make It Happen," was a self-motivation session primarily for teachers of adults. Gordon presently teaches program management for Phoenix College while serving as a management and education consultant. After nine years in the medical insurance field, Pamela Hurlbert Buster is now pursuing her interest in stained glass - "Plan to have a sideline business in creation and restoration of stained glass when we move to Ocala, which we plan to do this summer. Looking forward to entering the Winter Park Sidewalk Art Festival in near future!"

67 Read Lewin will begin an ENT practice in 1982, "probably in Beaufort, SC." Charles H. Ross has been elected an Executive Vice President of Merrill Lynch & Co., Inc. In his new role, Charles, who has been with Merrill Lynch since 1961, will act as the Administrative Officer for the worldwide financial services company. Book-A-Year

Mills Memorial Library
Rollins College

One of the most enduring and rewarding traditions at Rollins College is the endowment of a book fund, in perpetuity, in memory of or in honor of a relative or friend. An appropriate bookplate is placed in each volume purchased.

Individual donations of $10.00 or more will be held until at least $200 is reached; the income from this endowment purchases a book each year. A gift to the Book-A-Year Fund is a thoughtful way to commemorate a special occasion or memorialize a family member or friend while helping to build the Library's endowment.
